CURRICULUM VITE NAVARRA ALFREDO

Alfredo Navarra is Associate Professor since 2015 at the Mathematics and Computer Science Dept, University of Perugia, Italy. He received the National Qualification as Full Professor in 3 areas:
INF/01, ING-INF/05, MAT/09.
He received the PhD in Computer Science in 2004 from ``Sapienza'' University of Rome, Italy.
Before joining the University of Perugia in 2007 as Assistant Professor, he has been with various international research institutes like the INRIA of Sophia Antipolis, France; the Dept of Computer Science at the Univ. of L'Aquila, Italy; the LaBRI, Univ. of Bordeaux, France.
His research interests include algorithms, computational complexity, distributed computing and networking. He has co-authored more than 100 publications in high-quality international journals, book chapters and conference proceedings. Among various national and international projects in which he has been involved, he is unit coordinator for the European project H2020-691161.